Open Doors Statewide Youth Reengagement System Theory of Action I September 2022

Focus Population

Open Doors is an option for young people 16-21 who are not enrolled in high school, who are not on track to complete by 21, and/or who may not complete high school with their cohort without intensive supports.¹

Assumptions

- Youth experience disruptions in their high school education for multiple, complex reasons
- Alternative learning, credit recovery, and online learning programs do not provide sufficient support for all students

Through cross-agency partnerships, youth reengagement programs can offer intensive and varied supports in response to the personal challenges and goals of each student

Resources

Federal: Funding (e.g., WIOA)

State: Legislative support, OSPI funding, required documentation of program practices (e.g., 1:75 ratio for case management, weekly status check, 2 hours of in-person contact monthly)

Community: Knowledge of local assets/gaps

Program: Provider and partner expertise

Participants: Engagement in program

→ Strategies

- Provide training and technical assistance for programs
- Model intra- and inter-agency partnerships beyond K–12
- Use input from steering committee and others to inform guidance for program implementation

COMMUNITY-LEVEL

STATE-LEVEL

- Offer and promote multiple pathways to meaningful credentials and career skills and an on-ramp to postsecondary work and education
- Develop innovative partnerships for instruction, wraparound support, and career/community connections that include and go beyond K–12
- · Continually improve programming in response to data, student feedback, and community needs

PROGRAM-LEVEL

- · Outreach and relationship building
- Case management and wraparound support
- Relevant and flexible learning opportunities that build on student experiences and strengths
- Student voice and choice

Participant

Participant Outcomes

INTERIM OUTCOMES

- Sustain engagement in program
- Demonstrate academic progress
- Increase social and emotional development and well-being
 - Increase skill in self-advocacy and accessing multiple forms of support
 - Increase sense of purpose, agency, and efficacy related to learning
 - Increase positive relationships
- Increase future orientation and career/college skills

LONG-TERM OUTCOMES

- Complete secondary education
- Enter the workforce and/or pursue postsecondary learning
- Contribute to community

 $^1\,\underline{https://app.leg.wa.gov/WAC/default.aspx?cite=392-700-035\&pdf=true}$

Foundational Principles

Student-based programming, services, and supports to fit individual goals, needs, and strengths

Whole-person support to address barriers to learning and promote overall well-being

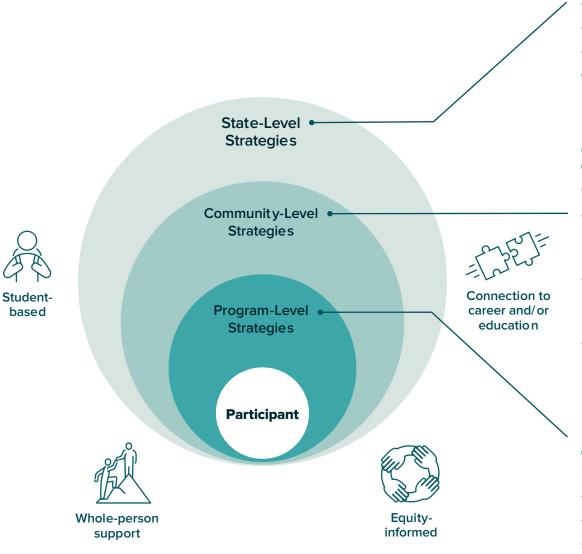

Connections to career and/or postsecondary education to help students take their next step

Equity-informed design and implementation to address disparities and support students furthest from educational justice

Open Doors Statewide Youth Reengagement System

State-Level Strategies (OSPI)

- Provide training and technical assistance for programs
- Model intra- and inter-agency partnerships beyond K-12
- Use input from steering committee and others to inform guidance for program implementation

Community-Level Strategies (Local Education Partnerships)

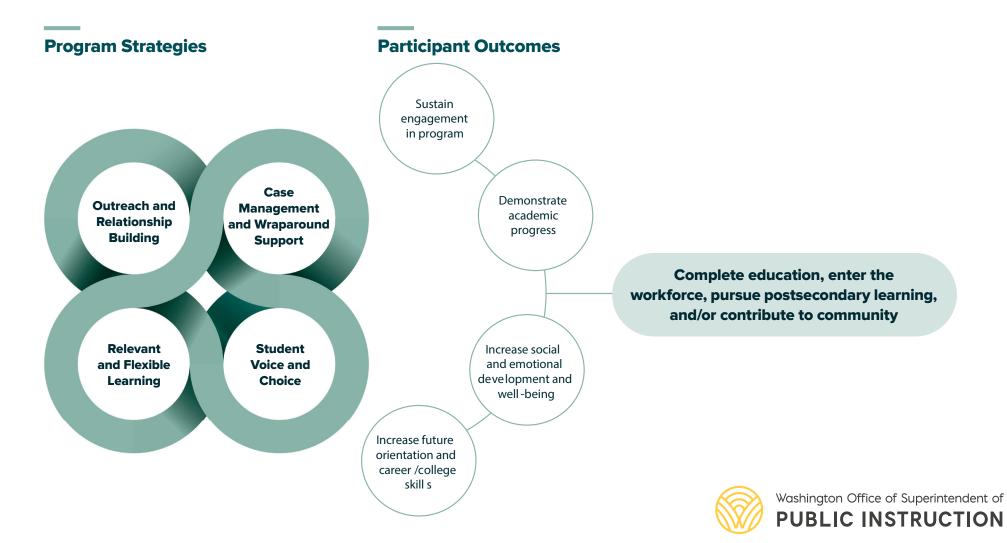

- Offer and promote multiple pathways to meaningful credentials and career skills and an on-ramp to postsecondary work and education
- Develop innovative partnerships for instruction, wraparound support, and career/community connections that include and go beyond K-12
- Continually improve programming in response to data, student feedback, and community needs

Program-Level Strategies

- Outreach and relationship building
- Case management and wraparound support
- Relevant and flexible learning opportunities that build on student experiences and strengths
- Student voice and choice

Open Doors Program Strategies and Participant Outcomes

Foundational Principles

Student-basedprogramming, services, and supports to fit individual goals, needs, and strengths

Whole-person support to address barriers to learning and promote overall well-being

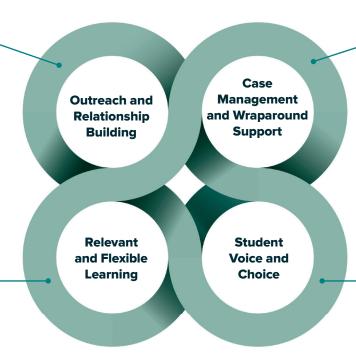

Connections to career and/or postsecondary education to help students take their next step

Equity-informed design and implementation to address disparities and support students furthest from educational justice

Examples of Open Doors Program Strategies and Practices

- Communicate with youth frequently via multiple methods (e.g., text, phone, email, street outreach)
- Cultivate a sense of community among students through informal spaces, interest-based clubs, collective learning opportunities, and peer supports
- Implement equity-focused practices
 (e.g., culturally responsive practice, trauma-informed practice, restorative practice, strengths-based approach)
- Provide personalized instruction based on student strengths and aligned with student goals (e.g., curriculum adjusted to student needs and interests, academic coaching and tutoring, individualized plans, flexible schedules, smallgroup instruction)
- Integrate social and emotional learning and support with academics and offer additional workshops on these topics
- Offer work-based learning, including offering credit and/or stipends for jobs or programs that help build job skills
- Offer competency-based instruction and pathways

- Meet individually with each student on a regular basis to identify needs, set goals, and track and celebrate progress
- Provide comprehensive student support with resources and referrals for wraparound services (e.g., housing, food, transportation, mental health) to help students meet their basic needs so that they are ready to learn
- Coach students to develop the knowledge and skills they need to advocate for themselves
- Elicit youth input and interests via surveys or interviews
- Enable students to make ongoing choices regarding their pathways, goals, and learning activities
- Engage current and former participants as peer mentors, interns, and advocates
- Provide opportunities for student leadership

