TITLE IX/SEX EQUITY OFFICER

Background

Under Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, each school district that receives federal financial assistance must designate at least one employee to coordinate the district’s compliance with its responsibilities under Title IX, and to investigate complaints alleging sex discrimination, including sexual harassment. This employee is often known as the Title IX/Sex Equity Officer.

Similarly, under Washington state law, all school districts must designate at least one employee to monitor and coordinate the district’s compliance with state nondiscrimination laws (chapters 28A.640 and 28A.642 RCW, and chapter 392-190 WAC). This employee is often known as the Civil Rights Compliance Coordinator.

The district’s Title IX/Sex Equity Officer may also serve as the district’s Civil Rights Compliance Coordinator. However, if a district assigns different coordinators for these roles, they should regularly collaborate with one-another, particularly on issues related to sex discrimination and sexual harassment.

While school districts may determine additional job requirements, the Title IX/Sex Equity Officer is, at a minimum, responsible for:
1. Coordinating and monitoring the district’s compliance with Title IX, as well as state civil rights requirements regarding discrimination and harassment based on sex;
2. Overseeing prevention efforts to avoid Title IX violations from occurring;
3. Implementing the district’s discrimination complaint procedures with respect to sex discrimination and sexual harassment; and
4. Investigating complaints alleging discrimination based on sex, including sexual harassment.

The district should document that it has communicated these responsibilities to the Title IX/Sex Equity Officer. One way of accomplishing this is to have the Title IX/Sex Equity Officer sign and date their job description.

Choosing a Title IX/Sex Equity Officer

The Title IX/Sex Equity Officer should be sufficiently knowledgeable about the requirements under state and federal sex discrimination laws, regulations, and guidance (including Title IX, chapter 28A.640 RCW, and chapter 392-190 WAC) to advise the district about its policies, procedures, and practices and to investigate complaints alleging sex discrimination and sexual harassment.

The school district should ensure that the Title IX/Sex Equity Officer receives appropriate and ongoing training. The district should clearly communicate the responsibilities and expectations of the position with the Title IX/Sex Equity Officer, and should provide them with the time and resources needed to effectively perform these duties.
Sample Title IX/Sex Equity Officer Job Description

Note: If the Title IX/Sex Equity Officer also serves as the district’s Civil Rights Compliance Coordinator and/or Section 504 Coordinator, please see the sample job descriptions for these roles for additional responsibilities.

- Develop, implement, and document an annual evaluation of the athletic programs at each school building to ensure that the overall benefits and treatment of the boys’ and girls’ athletic programs are comparable, considering the following factors: accommodation of interests and abilities, coaching and tutoring, equipment and supplies, scheduling, facilities, medical services and training, publicity and awards, and travel and per diem. The Title IX/Sex Equity Officer may use the sample self-evaluation worksheets provided by OSPI’s Equity and Civil Rights Office.
